

Uche Enemchukwu, Esq.

Chief Executive Officer
Nelu Diversified Solutions
Chicago, Illinois

Uche Enemchukwu is the CEO of Nelu Diversified Solutions (Nelu), a global employee benefits consulting, certification, and technology provider on a mission to make benefits accessible. With offices in the United States and the United Kingdom, Nelu has garnered the attention of global plan sponsors and news outlets as well as the recognition of the University of Chicago Booth School of Business for its innovative approach and social impact. Possessing diversified employee benefits experience, Uche began her career as an associate attorney at a large law firm with a well-regarded and sophisticated human capital and benefits practice. She then transitioned to consulting at Willis Towers Watson (now WTW), where she drove benefits compliance and strategy results for Fortune 100 employers. Before founding Nelu, Uche led global retirement compliance at Boeing, which has some of the largest and most complex benefits plans in existence. At Boeing, she was also responsible for retirement and financial well-being policy, all federal agency interactions (including the U.S. Department of Labor, Internal Revenue Service, and the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation) and collective bargaining. Uche received her J.D. degree and LL.M. degree in taxation from Washington University in St. Louis. There, she was awarded the Dagen-Legomsky International Public Interest Fellowship and taught undergraduate-level international human rights courses in the Netherlands. Uche received her B.A. degree in history and international comparative area studies from Duke University.
