

Stephen Erlichman,
LL.B., LL.M., M.B.A.

Partner, Corporate Governance
Fasken Martineau DuMoulin LLP
Toronto, Ontario

Steve has practised corporate and securities law throughout his career at major law firms in New York and Toronto and, since 1999, has been a senior partner at Fasken, an international law firm. Steve co-founded Fasken's ESG & Sustainability group and spends substantial time advising boards and management of institutional investors, business corporations and non-profits on ESG matters. From 2011 to 2018, Steve was the CEO of the Canadian Coalition for Good Governance, and he developed CCGG's agenda and strategy, including public policy positions in relation to ESG matters. Recommendations made by Steve to governments and securities regulators have resulted in the adoption of laws and regulations in relation to corporate governance and investment fund governance. The press has called Steve's writings "insightful" and "prescient" and have called him "a leading governance expert" and one of "Canada's top M&A attorneys." Global Proxy Watch named Steve one of the "10 people around the world who have had the most impact on corporate governance" in 2016. Steve has law degrees from University of Toronto and New York University, an M.B.A. degree from Harvard University, the Responsible Investment Professional Certification from the RIA, and the certificate in Sustainable Capitalism & ESG from UC Berkeley Law.
