

Mathieu Vézina, M.B.A.

National Manager, Alliances
TELUS Health
Montréal, Québec

Mathieu Vézina currently serves as the national manager of alliances at TELUS Health, where he oversees the development and implementation of innovative health and wellness solutions for associations, unions, and multi-employer benefit trusts. Prior to this, he was the director of business development at Morneau Shepell (now TELUS Health) since 2017. Mathieu also held roles in the banking industry and the public sector. His educational background includes an Executive M.B.A. degree from Université du Québec à Montréal and Université Paris Dauphine, as well as a bachelor's degree in business administration from Université du Québec à Montréal.